HOWE'S SEWING MACHINES

THE UNDERSIGNED, HAVING RETIRED FROM the tailoring business, in Bridgewater, Pa., will in the future, devote his whole time and attention to the sale of Howe's Unrivalled Sewing Machines. His assistant is in the building formerly occupied by himself and Mr. Miller, as a Tailor Shop. These Machines range in price from $85 to 85, and will be delivered in good order to persons purchasing them. An experienced person will accompany each machine sold, and the purchaser will be thoroughly instructed in its use. He will also keep a sewing machine needles, machine oil, silk, thread and all articles needed in sewing, and dispose of them at reasonable rates. Thankful to the public for favors heretofore received, he solicits, in his new business, a continuance of the same.

ROOFING SLATE!

TWIN CITY SLATE MINING

AND

MANUFACTURING COMPANY.

J. S. NEWMYER, S. H. ANDERSON, J. S. SHALLENBERGER,
President. Secretary. Superintendent.

OFFICE,

No. 13 Seventh Street, Pittsburg, Pa.

It is believed that the time has come in the progress of American architecture, when the question will no longer be asked, "What shall we use for roofing?" but, "WHERE CAN WE OBTAIN THE BEST SLATE?"—Older countries have long since established the fact, that no material is so well adapted, and so durable, as slate for covering buildings. Two obstacles to its general use in this country have existed heretofore: first, the transition character of society, which is necessarily opposed to permanence in architecture and second, the great abundance and low price of lumber. The first impediment is rapidly yielding to timber and riper ideas on the subject of building, and the other must soon give away to the scarcity and advancing price of lumber suitable for roofing purposes.

We submit a few leading advantages of a Slate roof:

It is superior to every other in appearance.

It is easily put on.

It saves insurance.

It is fire proof.

It is imperishable.

The Twin City Slate Company's Mines are in Northampton County, Penn'a. The Slate is a beautiful dark blue, unchangeable in color, splits in perfectly smooth plates of any size required, and hardens steadily by exposure to the atmosphere. No Slate in the United States is superior to it, in all the qualities essential to a good roof, and we think but little equal to it. It is furnished at the yard in Pittsburgh, at the rate of $12.00 a square (one hundred square feet), which with expense of laying, will add about 25 per cent. to the cost of a shingle roof at present prices.

Samples of Slate may be seen, and orders left at the office of A. T. Shallenberger & Co., Rochester, Pa.

PARENTS AND SCHOOLS.

In all communities is found a certain class of innocent persons that never deign to set foot inside of a school, or to cheer the teacher with a single smile of approbation or word of encouragement. Perhaps few, if any individuals of this class ever enjoyed the advantages of a good school in childhood, and certainly have never visited one since they became parents; yet they know, if we take their word for it, exactly how schools—and especially those in their own district—should be conducted; and even those who do visit schools do not know so well as they how their schools are conducted. These interesting and extremely wise (in their own conceit) individuals invariably possess one very remarkable faculty; and that is that although they can never mention any good points in the schools, they can name many bad ones; and, although when questioned closely they utterly fail to tell how the schools are actually conducted, they generally contrive to tell how they are not conducted.

To the class to which we refer, we very earnestly commend the following article which we found recently in the Pittsburgh Commercial, under the above head. Please read, mark and inwardly digest; and it may add much to your peace of mind.

"The responsibility of parents is not to be measured by dollars and cents. The loss or injury from neglect or misdirection cannot be calculated. Neither can the responsibility be shifted to another; it cannot be wholly delegated. Yet very many parents act as though they believed that when they have provided teachers for their sons and daughters their duty as to their education is discharged—they have nothing more to do in this respect. Their business matters they do not so readily confide to others. The loss here can be computed. But that teacher to whom a child is entrusted for twenty-four hours, a week, or one-seventh of his time, is not a parent to your child, only in part. He has not a parent's trusts committed to him, and has not his rights in relation to your child. This is at once seen if he punishes your child. You feel that injustice has been done. One of the most able writers on the duties of parents says they are bound to devote much time and attention to the subject teacher discharges his duty with relation to the. With many parents the ascertaining whether their children like or dislike their teacher or not is the limit of their obligations, and this they learn from their children at home at some time, it may be when they are disaffected in consequence of the faithfulness of the teacher. The child's testimony is all that is asked—an interested and incompetent witness—as to the capability and fidelity of the teacher. It is as if a manufacturer should be condemned as inefficient or incompetent by a disaffected operative or prejudiced visitor.

We have often heard teachers and institutions of learning accused by parents of defects and of unjust regulations from which they were wholly free. The institutions should be visited, the teachers seen, and the testimony taken on both sides, and even in this case the parents prejudice would be likely enough to decide unjustly in favor of his child. Even if the defect did exist it might not be sufficient to condemn the whole institution. Imperfection mark everything in this world, and perhaps family government may not be an exception. Parents would not like to have their management of two or three children judged by one or two cases of discipline selected by the servant only temporarily employed. Would the manufacturer wish to have his establishment judged by the working of the most defective article of machinery to be found in it, or by the most unskilled workman there? And yet this is what many parents are constantly doing. Their children whom they send to school to learn may be urged to study beyond their inclinations; or may have been thwarted in the gratification of their desires for mischief; or their overweening self-conceit may have been somewhat diminished by the disclosure of their ignorance; or they may not have been advanced according to their own exalted opinions of their capacities; or what may have told imperfectly, innocently, or otherwise, what was said or done, and they are full of dissatisfaction with the teachers. Brains the teachers cannot furnish, neither can they train, as they would, the feeble capacities often furnished in consequence of the little power given to them. In this way parents injure their own children, and the reputation of many most worthy teachers.

Parents can make no better investment of a part of their time than by visiting the schools where their children are, and ascertaining just what they are doing, suggesting changes where they may be necessary, and giving encouragement and praise where it may be deserved to children and teachers. It is better that business suffer somewhat and that the gains be a little less than that the education of their children be faulty, or it may be wholly defective through their neglect.

Solutions.

No. 3, of March 18th.

Dick's age is now 2 times Harry's; but 20 years ago Dick's was 4 times Harry's; hence, by the conditions of the question, 4 times a certain number plus 20 is equal to twice 1 time that number plus 20. Twice 1 time a certain number plus 20 is 2 times that number plus 40; then, if 4 times a certain number plus 20 equals 2 times that number plus 40, the difference between the quantities added—that is 40 minus 20—must equal the difference in the number of times the number is taken to which they are added; hence 40 minus 20 (equal 20) equals 2 times Harry's age 20 years ago.

If 20 was 2 times his age 20 years ago, he was 10 years old; and Dick was 4 times 10 or 40 years old; and with 20 added to each they are now respectively 30 and 60 years old—Dick's age is now 2 times Harry's.

We may solve the question thus: 1 time a certain number plus 20 equals ½ of 4 times that number plus 20; ½ of 4 times a number plus 20 is 2 times that number plus 10; hence 20 minus 10 was Harry's age, etc.

Don't Leave the Farm.

Come, boys, I have something to tell you,
Come near, I would whisper it low—
You are thinking of leaving the homestead
Don't be in a hurry to go!
The city has many attractions,
But think of the vices and sins,
When once in the vortex of fashion,
How soon the course downward begins.

You talk of the mines of Australia—
They're wealthy in gold without doubt,
But ah! there is gold on the farm, boys,
"If only you'll shovel it out.
The mercantile trade is a hazard
The goods are first high and then low;
Better risk the old farm a while longer
Don't be in a hurry to go.

The great, busy West has inducements,
And so has the busiest mart,
But wealth is not made in a day, boys,
Don't be in a hurry to start!
The bankers and Brokers are wealthy,
They take in their thousand or so—
Ah! think of the frauds and deceptions,
Don't be in a hurry to go.

The farm is the safest and surest,
The orchards are loaded to-day,
You're as free as the air of the mountains,
And monarch of all you survey.
Better stay on the farm a while longer,
Though profits come in rather slow,
Remember you're nothing to risk, boys,
Don't be in a hurry to go.

WHAT MODERN DEMOCRACY MEANS.

The Wail of a Democratic Editor at the Defeat of the Slaveholders Rebellion—Armed Traitors Pronounced the True Defenders of American Nationality.

During the war of the slaveholders we frequently asserted and wrote that the men who led and the organs which conveyed intelligence to the masses of the Democratic party, were in league with the traitors conspiring to overthrow the Government. There were those in the Republican party who occasionally expressed their doubts as to whether it was really possible for any Northern man to so far forget himself as to maintain that the slaveholders' rebellion had the least shadow of right for its justification. Such men as these have no doubt discovered by this time that the Democratic leaders of the North are actually in league with the slaveholders, that they sympathize with and afford aid to traitors, and that the highest hopes of these Democrats, lodge in the desire to see the Union dissolved in order that the triumphs of the Republican principles may be arrested. If this discovery had not been made, the following extracts from the Bellefonte Watchman, organ of the Centre county Democracy, will serve to open their eyes to the revolting facts. The Watchman of the 15th inst. says:

When the army of Northern Virginia, under the command of Gen. Lee, surrendered to the North, human liberty received a blow from which it may never recover. The greater the distance which we look back upon this event the more firmly will men become convinced, that those who boast of intelligence and of a love of freedom, permitted a brave and heroic band of men to be starved into surrender to the worst power which the hand of despotism has wielded in modern times. That little remnant of the glorious band who had for four years hurled back the invading armies of the North, was the last obstacle between the usurping tyrants who had obtained possession of the Government of the United States and the consummation of their unholy purposes. From that hour, liberty was struck down, not only at the South, but all over the land, and misery and ruin have been the portion of those who permitted this thing to be done.

When in 1861, a party obtained control of the Northern States and of the federal government which had for years declared its revolutionary purposes, and carried them out whenever practicable, the South, always a bulwark of freedom, stood up manfully for the protection of her liberties. The Union had been to them an outer line of defense; but when this was carried by the foe, they fell back to the inner and last citadel—their several States—to defend them to the bitter end. Right here, two great blunders, as we believe, were committed by the people of the South and by the Democracy of the North, and as these mistakes must yet be rectified if our liberties are saved. We propose briefly to point them out.

The sole and only object of the rebellion was to maintain negro slavery. From the formation of the Government, down to the hour when South Carolina passed her ordinance of secession in 1860, the South had the control of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments thereof for almost double the term of years they were controlled by the North. In fact the entire policy of the Government was shaped by southern men to serve southern interest and institutions. Northern labor groaned under free trade to gratify the planters of the South. Wars were provoked by the South and fought to victory by the North that slavery might be extended. The national treasury was drained to keep up the postal routes of the South, to improve her rivers and harbors, and make up for the deficiency of her slothful labor. Nevertheless the States that were free outstripped those that tolerated slavery, while all the States that asked for admission to the Union came in the name of freedom. It was to put an end to the spread of liberty and to introduce and perpetuate slavery in all the States, that secession was precipitated. Yet in the face of these historical facts we are told by the Democratic Watchman "WHEN THE ARMY OF NORTHERN VIRGINIA UNDER THE COMMAND OF GEN. LEE SURRENDERED TO THE NORTH, HUMAN LIBERTY RECEIVED A BLOW FROM WHICH IT MAY NEVER RECOVER!" "Lee's army murdered thousands of loyal men at Gettysburg, and yet the editor of the Watchman who holds a seat in the Pennsylvania Legislature, tells the people of a portion of that State, Lee's army was the defender of human liberty,—Could political effrontery go any farther.

Further on in the same article from which we have already quoted, we find a lucid explanation of what the Watchman considers the "Wunders" of the Democratic party. This is the style in which the astute editor of the Watchman discourses concerning those blunders:

"The mistake of the South was in forming a new Constitution and a new flag, and it was a fatal one. The machinery of State Governments might have been properly employed to compel obedience to law, and the South might have led the solid column which would have united to put down the revolutionary usurpers of the North. But secession opened a chasm at the feet of Northern men which filled them with horror, and the spectacle of a new flag displacing the glorious banner of our fathers caused our people to forget the danger which threatened on the other hand. The South in her humiliation can see the blunder now; but when her chivalrous blood was hot, the thought only of the downright blows she could strike for freedom, without regard to the color of the bunting under which she fought.

"The error of the Northern Democracy was in giving any sort of assistance to the foul despotism which held the government of the Union. If we could not pass the gulf which the impetuous indignation of our brethern had dug, and assist them to achieve an independence which would leave us dependent, we could at least have refused to strike a blow or spend a dollar for their subjugation. Whatever mistake of policy they may have made they were unquestionably struggling for the most sacred rights of man, and would have crowned their success by the establishment of a free government. By our assistance the Mongrel party was enabled to crush the opposition of the South, and to build up a power capable of maintaining the despotism they have erected over us. The South struggled long and gallantly against the tyranny to which the North submitted without striking a blow. Mongrelism enslaved us by strategy, and we assisted to enslave the South by force. The result is, that we are all powerless, and forced to look upon the ruin of our beloved country without knowing where to turn for safety.

But numbering millions, and with the blood in our veins which flowed in those of our ancestors, it is folly for any one to think that we will sink into the cowardly repose of slaves without a long and bloody struggle for the liberty we love. There is work for us to do, and we must not shrink from its performance. We must fill the duty which we neglected in 1861.

—It would be labor lost to comment on such evidence of what can only be justly termed infamous perversion of history and dastardly outrage of the memory, of the noble dead who perished in freedom's cause, and cowardly insult of the patriotic living who survived the war of traitors to destroy the Government. But it is pure Democratic doctrine. The leaders of that party helped, encouraged and sacrificed all they had to aid traitors. It is consistent that they should now do as the Democratic Watchman does, maintain that traitors were and are right, and that the triumph of the Union men of the land is a result, the influence of which must be counteracted by another Democratic rebellion.

The Origin of the Wilmot Proviso—A New Version.

A correspondent of the New York Sun, respecial dispatch or the Commercial, calls upon Brinkerhoff, of the Ohio Supreme Court, was the real author of the "Wilmot Proviso," gives the following curious account of the origin of that measure, and the way in which it was presented to Congress:

The history of that proviso is this: In 1847 a political club met at the corner of Eighth street and Broadway, to partake of a weekly dinner. The club was composed of Barnburners—Democrats opposed to the extension of slavery.

At the dinner referred to, Mr. Howe, a Western member of Congress, was present.—His purpose in visiting New York was to take council with the friends of freedom how to head off the pro-slavery Democrats. Among the members of the club present were John Van Buren, Samuel J. Tilden, John A. Kennedy, Isaac V. Fowler, Andrew H. Green, and other well known freesoil Democrats.

During the consultation, John Van Buren said that the protest against the extension of slavery, introduced into Congress, was not worded right. He suggested that the exact words of Jefferson, in the famous ordinance of 1833 and 1837 should be used. This was agreed to.

Mr. Howe stated that it would be difficult to introduce the proviso, as the Speaker would not give the floor to any one friendly to freedom. Mr. Tilden, as the chief organizer of the movement about to be made, proposed that a stratagem should be played. It was agreed that each man composing the little body of sixteen or eighteen freesoilers in Congress should have a copy of the proviso in his pocket. Each should spring to the floor at the first chance, and shout "Mr. Speaker." It was thought that one of them would be recognized. Mr. Tilden with other members of the club, went to Washington to aid in carrying out the plan. At the time agreed upon the Spartan band, each with a proviso in his hand sprang to the floor, and in concert shouted, "Mr. Speaker!" The Speaker was bewildered. He could not ignore the whole crowd. He selected Judge Wilmot as the most moderate of the party, and so the Wilmot Proviso passed into history.

It is quite probable that a draft of the proviso in the hand of Judge Binkerhoff is preserved among his papers; but the original draft, if it exists at all, will be found among the papers of John Van Buren.

The Sergeant Bates Bubble Pricked.

Sergeant Bates, for some time before the beginning of his "march," lived at Edgeton, a small village on the railroad, about twenty-five miles east of this city. A citizen of Edgeton who was in our office a few days ago, says that the story that he laid a wager with another citizen of that place, that he could carry a United States flag through the Southern States has no foundation. Bates is a young and worthless sort of a fellow, and a violent Democrat. During the war he was a member of an artillery company stationed at Washington, but was never engaged in any battle, and saw no service more serious than drawing his rations and spending his pay about the capital. Last fall he went to Milwaukee, and after an absence of some days there appeared on the Democratic side of the Daily Wisconsin a long sensational account of the tremendous march which Sergeant Bates, in accordance with a wager, was about to undertake through the Southern States. From time to time the Wisconsin gave a column in the best sensational style of one of its Democrat editors, and other Democratic papers, and some Republican papers, began to have paragraphs, and longer articles, about Sergeant Bates. When he left Edgeton it was understood that he would be provided with a suit of black velvet and a flag, by his patrons, on reaching Louisville, Ky., the dress being devised to impart a romantic look to the flag-bearer. Meantime word was passed through the South, and the progress of Sergeant Bates has been made the occasion for demonstrations by the secesh element of stimulated enthusiasm over the national flag. The whole affair is a very cheap trick.—Madison (Wis.) Journal.

Republican State Ticket.

AUDITOR GENERAL.

GEN. JOHN F. HARTRANFT,

OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

SURVEYOR GENERAL.

COL. JACOB M. CAMPBELL,

OF CAMBRIA COUNTY.

THE New York Tribune thinks that Gen. Carey, member of Congress from the Cincinnati district, is an independent Republican in the same sense that Judas Iscariot was an independent Christian.

WISCONSIN made a gallant fight on the 6th inst. Not only did her noble Republicans succeed with their whole State ticket, but they gained 1,000 on their majority of last year.—Well done Wisconsin! All honor to her well managing and enthusiastic Republicans.

THE impeachment trial is still progressing. On Monday last Gen. Sherman was on the witness stand. He was subpœned by the President. His testimony was not regarded as favorable by the Executive's attorneys. The defense so far has been weaker even than the impeachment Managers supposed it would be. The case will probably end next week.

THE Republican State Convention was held a month ago. Yet the Central Committee has not been announced, and the preliminary work of the canvass remains untouched. This wasted month of comparative repose was the most valuable of the whole season for a Chairman of the Committee who rightly understood his duties and had a mind to do it. Let there be no further delay, but announce the Committee, and let it proceed at once and with a will, to business.—Pitts. Gazette.

WE were a little "previous" in stating in our last issue that we had suffered a reverse at the election in Cincinnati, on the 6th inst. The telegraph misinformed us. The official returns now show that the Republicans elected their candidate for Judge, besides nearly all of their ticket.

In Cleveland the Republican ticket was also successful. Our party gained about 1000 votes in that city since last fall's election. In nearly every locality in Ohio the Republicans have done well—gained over their vote last year—and that State may be safely counted on for Grant in November, by a majority of 20,000.

A MARKED difference between the Republican and Democratic United States Senators, now sitting as a high court of impeachment, is said to be plainly perceptible: While the Republican Senators differ in opinion with each other, and frequently vote on questions that incidentally arise in the trial just as the President's attornies would have them to do, the Democratic Senators invariably vote solid, and in favor of every proposition that seems to favor the accused. Neither the law, the strain them in the least from voting not in accordance with their oaths but as their political feelings suggest. The Republican Senators in thus showing their freedom from political bias are setting a high-toned and worthy example, and one too that will neither injure them personally nor do their party any harm.

ANOTHER terrible murder occurred on the 7th, this time at Ottowa, Canada. The Hon. Thos. Darcy M'Gee was the victim. The assassin or assassins are yet unknown. The murdered man was a member and a leader of the House of Commons, and two hours before his death he delivered the ablest speech of his life on the Nova Scotian question. After leaving the House, he went to his boarding place, and while near the door of his own room some fiend shot him with a pistol, the ball entering his brain. No one being present the assassin escaped. Mr. M'Gee has been a bitter opponent of the Fenian movement and it is very generally believed that some member of that organization committed the bloody deed. A reward amounting in the aggregate to fourteen thousand dollars has been offered by the public authorities for the apprehension of the murderer.

—LATER.—A man named Whalan has been arrested, and is now believed to have been the murderer.

THE Ku Klux Klan, in the Southern States, has partially thrown off the mask, and if its members are to be judged by their acts, their objective point is to persecute, plunder and murder Union men, whether they have a white skin or black. Here is one of the first moves on their political chess board: The Hon. G. W. Ashburn of Columbus, Ga., late a member of the Constitutional Convention, a Southern Unionist, and a very prominent and influential man, had for sometime past been receiving anonymous letters from the Ku Klux Klan cautioning him "to beware." He supposed these letters were only intended to frighten—to deter him from doing his duty under the laws in assisting to reconstruct his State, and therefore paid no attention to them. At about midnight between March 31st and April 1st a band of thirty or forty persons surrounded his house, broke it open, entered, found Mr. Ashburn in his room, and there shot him dead. Three shots entered his body, each of which would have sufficed to kill him. The perpetrators escaped, and the civil authorities made but little effort to ascertain who they were. Of course they were disguised in the Ku Klux costume.

Gen. Meade now steps upon the stage. He has issued a general order, in which he refers to this murder, and other atrocious acts committed by this secret rebel organization. In this order he enjoins it upon all good people to avoid connecting themselves with this order, and he urges his officers throughout the South to be vigilant in their efforts to ferret the members out so that punishment may be inflicted upon them. It is to be hoped that this prompt action of Gen. Meade's will have a salutary effect. If these desperadoes should however set his order at defiance, and continue on in their infamous and bloody work, he would be sustained by the country if with fire and sword he would exterminate the whole band from the face of the earth.

CONNECTICUT, after all has done nobly. Instead of being routed as we supposed last week the Republicans have been the victors in that State. Look at the facts. The State administration was in the hands of the Democrats. All the Federal offices were likewise in their hands. These were used shamefully to keep the party in power. Now for the result of the recent election: The Democrats elected their State ticket. In this they gained nothing, for they held the State offices before. That then was a drawn battle. Neither party made anything out of it. But the Republicans not only carried the Legislature again, but they made very heavy gains in nearly all the Legislative districts, and have a majority of 30 or 40 votes on joint ballot in the Legislature! This "pusts" Dixon, the Johnsonized United States Senator from that State and gives us a staunch Republican in his stead. Hence, while the Republicans have lost nothing in Connecticut at the late election, they have gained a United States Senator. We are satisfied with all election news of that kind.

THE Democratic papers as a general thing are content to feed on very light food. The next morning after the spring elections in this State, the New-York World had its "roosters" out in great variety, and was hip hurrahing with all its might over Democratic victories in Pennsylvania. A couple of its sensational headlines read thus: "Pike county gone Democratic"—"Glorious victory in that county for the Democracy," &c. On the following day the Tribune pricked that bubble by stating that Pike county had never been anything else than Democratic since it was organized, and that at the last general election the result showed about four Democratic votes to every one Republican in the county. So much for a display of poultry in that instance.

Just now we have a Democratic paper before us with the picture of a large "rooster" in it. Its editor bawls lustily over Democratic victories in Connecticut, Michigan, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Evansville, Keokuk, Atcheson, Leavenworth, Columbus, Sandusky, La Grosse, Coshoction, Fremont, Urbana, Newark, &c.

Now the truth is, the Republicans gained all in Connecticut that was gained at the recent election: (A United States Senator) they carried Michigan; they elected their ticket in Cincinnati; they swept St. Louis, and routed their opponents in Columbus. The remaining towns above referred to, with scarcely a single exception, were like Pike county—Democratic from time immemorial. If to achieve success in them raises the Democratic spirit, and starts out the Democratic "rooster," we presume it is on the ground of thankfulness that these places have not been wrested from their grasp. At all events if they are satisfied with the results of the elections on the 6th inst. we can assure them that the Republicans are in no sense displeased.

THE election in Arkansas has resulted in the triumph of the Republican State ticket; in addition to this victory the radicals have also succeeded in carrying the new impartial suffrage constitution. Speaking of the opposition to the Republican ticket, and the efforts made to defeat reconstruction in that State, the Arkansas Republican says:

"Every Union man who has arrived here from that region since the election tells the story of their fraud, their violence, and their rebellious mobs. The old Rebel leaders confidently expected to carry these counties in the South by inciting their brutal and degraded masses against the freedmen, and their plan proved pretty successful. That this was their intention, and that the plan was carefully premeditated, was admitted by some of their drunken and indiscreet followers at Little Rock.

"Had it not been for the resolute energy, indomitable courage, and unswerving loyalty of the freedmen, the Constitution would have been defeated. As it was, hundreds of these humble, but courageous, colored men walked and rode miles to where they could vote freely and fairly."

THE President frequently takes the wind out of his own sails. Here is an instance: On the 14th of last August he wrote Hon. Hugh McCulloch, Secretary of the Treasury as follows:

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 14, 1867.

SIR: In compliance with the requirements of the eight section of the act of Congress of March 2, 1867, entitled an act to regulate the tenure of certain civil offices, you are hereby notified that, on the 12th instant, the Hon. Edwin M. Stanton was suspended from his office as Secretary of War. Gen. U. S. Grant is authorized and empowered to act as Secretary of War ad interim. I am, sir, very respectfully yours.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

Audrew Johnson, arraigned by the people and recklessly pleading a bad cause, when called on to account for this act—the suspension of Mr. Stanton—says in a paper which carries the force of an oath that it is now and was then his opinion that he had the right to suspend him under the Constitution, and that he did it by virtue of that right. This conflict of testimony it is somewhat difficult to reconcile in any way very creditable to the President. To Mr. McCulloch he says, "I suspended Mr. Stanton under the provisions of the civil tenure act;" to the Senate he says, "I suspended him under the powers I verily believed then and believe now conferred on me by the Constitution."

A more complete "up-tripping" than this can hardly be found anywhere. Andy Johnson up-sets himself.

A GREAT many of our cotemporaries are laboring under the impression that if President Johnson is convicted and deposed, he will be disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit in the future. This is an error. The Constitution of the United States (Art 1 sec 3) provides that "Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend beyond removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States." If therefore President Johnson is forced to retire from the Presidential chair, there will be no obstacle in the way to his again becoming "alderman of his native village," representative in the State Legislature, or Governor of a commonwealth, provided always that he has acquired citizenship and can get votes enough to elect him.

THE LAKE MICHIGAN DISASTER.

Narrative of Another Survivor—List of the Passengers.

CHICAGO, April 10.—James H. Leonard, the third survivor so far from the burned steamer Sea Bird, publishes the following: At about 7 o'clock yesterday morning, I went up on deck and conversed with the first mate of the steamer in regard to the distance to Chicago; learned that it was about 20 miles; then went to my wife's stateroom, and soon afterward heard the alarm of fire; went out to ascertain the cause, and found the boat on fire, and the flames bursting out near the stern and close to the stateroom which I had just left. Immediately rushed in to rescue my wife, but was prevented by the flames, which cut off communication with the stateroom; did not see or hear of my wife after I left the stateroom when the alarm was given.

Mr. Leonard agreed with Mr. Chamberlain in the general description of the catastrophe, but thinks that not more than 30 passengers were on board. Many disembarked at Milwaukee—more, he thinks, than embarked.—Finding it too hot to stay on the boat, and realizing the fact that her destruction was inevitable, he sprang into the water, and being a vigorous swimmer, soon caught a board, and then climbed on a piece of the paddle-box floating near; he clung to this and drifted with the waves to the South-west Landing, three miles north of Evanston, between 7 and 8 o'clock last night, after having been on a fragment of the wreck 12 hours, drenched to the skin, his clothing frozen, and himself near-er dead than alive, after his perilous ride of not far from 15 miles.

Mr. Leonard saw about 20 passengers leap into the water and swim around, while others seemed to sink almost immediately; he saw no women leap overboard, and did not see any woman in the water; he believes that about 10 women were on board, all of whom must have perished in the flames.

An attempt was made to launch the steamer's boats, but the rapidity with which the flames spread rendered it impossible. The sea was not very high, and the boats could have easily weathered it had they been launched.

From the best evidence which Capt. Goodrich of the Sea Bird has been able to obtain, it would appear that no effort was made to stop the engine until circumstances prevented its further motion. The result was that, the helm having been put a-port, the boat described a circle of nearly a mile in diameter. The belief of those who ought to know is that, had the progress of the steamer been stopped at the first alarm, the boats might have been gotten out, and all on board saved.

The Steamboat Inspector of this district has decided to issue an order to engineers of all steamers on the Lake, and their assistants, to stop their engines on the instant of a fire alarm without waiting orders from their superior officers, and not to start again without an order delivered personally by the chief officer.

A Mexican Booth.

The attempted murder of Juarez was modelled after Booth's more successful attempt. Colonel Adalid, for two years Prefect of Toluca, was the chief assassin. Juarez's box at the Yturbide is on the second floor, but furthest off from the stage of any box in the house. It is close to the front entrance to the building, and exceedingly easy of access. The Colonel had a guard of twelve ex-Imperial lieutenants, who, dressed as citizens, were to mount fleet horses, and having an extra horse for him, were to appear in citizens' dress (so as not to excite suspicion) near the doors of the theatre at nine o'clock P. M., or shortly after the curtin was raised. Adalid was to enter the box the door of which is in the rear, shoot and stab Juarez and then secure his horse and flee. To further aid him, fifteen or twenty of the conspirators were to place themselves near the box and around the doors so as to interrupt the passages and such as would follow the assassin. The assassination accomplished, Adalid and his men were to make for the Citadel, [illegible] regiment was to move to from the palace. The garrison at the Citadela were to have hauled the flag down and run up the flag of Carlotta. Fifty men of the Seventh Regiment were to have proceeded to the residence of the members of Juarez's Cabinet and secure and hold them as prisoners. Fully one-half of this garrison, or 9,000 officers and men, were pledged to their assistance. The discovery was made by the interception of a note from one of the conspirators to Col. Gazara, in command of the Seventh Regiment, which is composed mainly of young men belonging to the aristocratic families of the State of Guanajuato. The note by mistake was handed to a Lieutenant of Juarez's bodyguard, who read it, and immediately afterwards proceeded to confer with Gen. Regules. The result was the discovery of all the plans and measures on foot to further them. Cols. Adalid and Gazza are in the military prison of Martinique. It is a subject of conversation that the whole affair was plotted by a chagrined Liberal General, who has made his escape, and that the conspirators were to declare for the Empress Carlotta and call her to the throne of Mexico.

A Soldier's Advice to the President.

Thursday evening last—the anniversary of Lee's surrender to Grant—was celebrated by the central Grant Club, in New York, in an appropriate manner. Gen. Sickles made the principal speech. It was eloquent and effective, like all his speeches, and concluded with the following reference to the impeachment trial:

He would not, being a soldier, discuss the question of the guilt or innocence of the accused. The verdict would settle that question. But it has been more than whispered that the question of succession would afterwards be discussed, that the office would not be turned over to the succession in an orderly and legal manner. He would advise the President to take warning from his past attempts to alienate the army from the people, from the failure to alienate Sherman and Thomas. [Great applause.] When the verdict should be given, the loyal millions, the army of 1865 which President Johnson reviewed in Washington, reinforced by a million more of brave and loyal men, would unite in enforcing it. As well might the Cherokees, the Seminoles and Mohicans return to claim the lands on the banks of the Susquehanna, or George the Third, arise to claim the colonies, as the old regime of Toucey, Buchanan and the others attempt to regain their lost ascendancy. [Repeated cheers.]

ARKANSAS, with a voting population of 51,000 whites against 14,000 blacks, has adopted a "radical" constitution, framed by a "radical" convention, by six thousand majority. We are curious to know what reason the opposition will assign for such a result. "Negro domination" has been the common cry; but it will not avail in this case. Of course the whites did the business for themselves in this instance; and they did it a great deal better than it was done in Alabama, where the blacks were comparatively stronger. There the constitution failed to receive the requisite number of votes, and still the cry was "negro domination." Quite one half the white population of Arkansas must have gone for the aforesaid "radical" Constitution—two-thirds of all the voters being necessary—a fact that indicates a fearful state of things indeed; nevertheless very similar to that in the South generally. The opponents of reconstruction and the Ku-Klux fellows have labored hard to inculcate the belief that all or nearly all the whites are on one side and that the other is made up of negroes. That sort of thing has about ceased to be available capital.—Pitts Com.

THE returns from the Michigan election, on the new State Constitution, indicate its defeat by about 35,000. The liquor prohibition is also defeated. And yet the returns from the elections for town officers, on the same day, show that the Republicans have held their own throughout the State. The vote on the Constitution has no political party significance.

Giving It up Early.

Some of the Democratic papers appear disposed to give up the Presidential contest early. The fact that no man can be found outside of the ranks of the leaders who either supported the rebellion or did nothing against it, is having a demoralizing influence. No inconsiderable part of the Democratic party, either will for a candidate who was on the side of the country or are convinced that any other will fall even worse than McClellan did; and as it becomes certain that such a candidate is highly improbable or past hoping for, the journals representing this class of Democrats begin to speak out. For instance, the New York Journal of Commerce, a paper which whenever it does speak of such matters, means a great deal, speaks as follows:

What course the Democrats will take is yet a matter of conjecture. If they take up an old party hack, or any prominent man of obnoxious or extreme party views, they will invite and deserve a disastrous defeat. If they select a man of moderate views, of unimpeachable character, of unobjectionable antecedents they will have, as the case stands, a fair chance of success. We hardly anticipate such a selection, and shall be agreeably disappointed if there is wisdom enough among the leaders of that party to present such a candidate for the suffrages of those who would gladly see a check placed upon the headlong course of the dominant party.

The Brooklyn Eagle, the representative paper of the party where relatively its majority is as great as in New York city, indorses the above, and joins in the lament as follows:

It is worth while noting that while the old friends of Constitutional Democracy are willing to forget the past, in order to effect a union for the sake of the Union, the journals and the men who were luke-warm when the battle waxed the thickest, for the most part, take extreme grounds, when victory is to be secured by moderation.

There is a solemnity about both of the above quotations almost distressing. It is, however, what thousands of Democrats feel. Not only they, but the great body of the people of all parties yearn, not for a new man merely, but one who has convinced them that in the Presidential office he will be strong, moderate, honest. This is the secret of General GRANT'S great popularity.

Aristocratic Bondholders.

The New York Evening Post calls the attention of those who denounce the aristocratic bondholders to the fact that the very few of the leading rich men of our large cities wealthy enough to be styled "aristocratic" own any bonds at all. Most of the bonds owned in this country are deposited as securities by the National banks, or held as investments by the savings banks, marine, fire and life insurance companies, and trust estates. Our very rich men do not deposit in savings banks, and seldom insure their lives or property. The savings banks and insurance companies in New-York alone hold $100,000,000 of United States stocks. The savings banks in Massachusetts hold $25,000,000; those in Rhode Island 15,000,000. The number of depositors in the New York savings banks whose savings are dependent on the national faith is 488,501, in Massachusetts it is 316,000. The most numerous class of them are domestics; after which follow laborers, seamstresses, clerks, tailors, waiters and cartmen. It is safe to say that about half the national debt, or two-thirds of that portion of the debt held in this country, is thus held by the working classes and poor men. These are the so-called "aristocratic bondholders," upon whom demagogues would bring down the losses incident to repudiation. Let every person who hears the bondholders denounced inquire of himself, "Have I money in the bank? Have I property about me?" If he can answer either of these questions in the affirmative, then, though he dwells in an attic or a hovel, he is one of the "aristocratic bondholders" at whom the denunciation is leveled. There must be about ten millions of them in the country.

A Remarkable Story.

During the year 1864, when the hostile forces were struggling for the supremacy in and around Winchester, Mr.—— went to Major Parsons, United States Provost Marshal, and applied for a safeguard. Gen. Fessenden was called on to fill the demand, which he did by detailing for this duty Mr. John ——, of the Second New York Cavalry, to whom he issued imperative orders to remain until he was relieved by proper authority. W—— stood manfully by his post. The tide of battle surged about him, but his was a charmed life, for he had that authority which saved him from molestation by the "rebs." The war was closed, but with it came no order to the sentinel, and, faithful to the trust confided to him, he is still at his post of duty! The case has been reported to the proper authorities, and Mr. W—— will doubtless soon be excused from further safeguard duty. That he will be able to draw full pay unto the present time, has we learn, been decided by competent military authority.—Wincester (Va.) Times.

WITHIN the last week Mr. CHASE has declared that he does not seek the Presidency. So one after another of the competitors of Gen. Grant retires from the field, not as the result of efforts put forth by him or his friends but in obedience to overwhelming popular sentiment. It is a victory won by constant manifestation of good sense; and office seekers, and all who entrain the purpose of some day running for office, would do well to take Gen. GRANT for their model. The most that Gen. GRANT has ever said in regard to the Presidency, is that if, without any act, looking like a bid for it, the people desire him to take the high place, he would not decline it. His acts—all the strict performance of his duty, and not a single thing for effect—have convinced the Republican party, and thousands of others besides, that he is the best man; indeed, so overwhelming has popular sentiment become in his favor that he is stronger than party, any attempt to put in operation against him machinery controlled by politicians would perfectly futile. One by one competitors have withdrawn, and with Mr. STEVENS that objector has retired. —Pitts Com.

ONE of the most important bills introduced into Congress at present session, is Senator Trumbull's United States Jury bill. It has gone through the mate and awaits action in the House. It pides that jurors may be summoned, outside of the State where the Court is held, and that previous expression of opinion on current reports is no disqualification of a juror. This bill was doubtless framed to meet cases of DAVIS and SUMMATT, and under its organizer of the rebellion will have a trial before a jury who neither fought in the army nor in any manner assented to the attempt to overthrow the government. Hint, it is now understood will take place in Richmond next month, and we hope to see Pennsylvania represented on the jury.—Pitts. C.

IT turns out, as we supposed it would, that the Democrats saw themselves from total defeat in Connecticut by swelling their vote in the cities. How did it, is not a difficult question to answer. If they had needed an indefinite number of voters beyond what they shipped from New York, the supply in that city is known to be able to stand the draft. In the rural districts, where the ballot box is kept comparatively pure, the Republican strength, as a matter of thing, not only kept up, but had a healthy growth. As a consequence, the Republican majority in the Legislature, which was eleven last year, has been increased to fifty, and a thorough Republican insurance in place of the Johnson-ized Dixon. Will carry the State high and dry.—Pitts.

ORPHANS' COURT SALE.

VALUABLE HOUSE AND LOTS IN ROCHESTER.

IN PURSUANCE OF AN ORDER OF THE Orphans' Court of Beaver county, the undersigned, Administrators of the estate of Ira Blanchard, dec'd., will expose to public sale on the premises, on

at 2 o'clock p. m., the following described real estate of said deceased, viz:

1. Two lots of ground situate in the borough of Rochester, in the County of Beaver, and State of Penn'a, adjoining each other, being lots numbered 122 and 123 in Gould's 1st subdivision of lots in said borough, bounded on the north by lots Nos. 119 and 120, east by lot No. 124, south by Washington street, and west by Vermont street and being each 80 feet in width, on said street, and extending back, of equal width, to lots Nos. 119 and 120; on which is erected a large two story frame dwelling house, nearly new, with nine rooms, well finished in modern style.

2. Two other lots adjoining the above, being lots Nos. 119 and 120 in Gould's 1st subdivision of lots in said borough, bounded on the north by Jackson street, east by lot No. 121, south by lots Nos. 122 and 123, and west by Vermont street, on which is erected a frame stable, and other out-buildings.

The property above described is a comfortable and beautifully situated residence, and is well worthy the attention of any person wishing to purchase a pleasant home.

TERMS:—One-third of the purchase money to be paid in hand on the confirmation of sale by the Court, and the balance in two equal annual paymet s with interest from date of confirmation.

TOM THUMB AND HIS FAMILY!

GENERAL TOM THUMB'S TROUPE!

Consisting of the Original World-Renowned GENERAL TOM THUMB!

that infinitable specimen of wit, skill, agility and comic drollery.

COMMODORE NUTT!

(known as "the $50,000 NUTT")

and his intended wife, the sweet little sprite MISS MINNIE WARREN!

Positively one day only, at TOWN HALL, Rochester, Pa, on THURSDAY, April 23, 1868.

Two Levees, at 3 and 8 P. M.

After an absence of three years in Europe, where they have delighted nearly all the Kings, Queens, Emperors, Nobility, and Five Million citizens of the "Old World" these Wonderful Lilliputians have returned to their Native land, and are giving a few FAREWELL ENTERTAINMENTS prior to their final retirement to private life.

They are undoubtedly the most astonishing and delightful Wonders of the Age! Four beautiful and symmetrically formed ladies and gentlemen in Miniature. Graceful, Intelligent, Witty, Educated and Refined, exhibiting the most polished manners of the fashionable Drawing Room, and yet only the size of three year old children!

Their Unique and exquisitely Enchanting PERFORMANCES and EXHIBITIONS never fail to charm and delight every beholder.

SONGS, DUETTS, DANCES, &C., in characteristic COSTUMES, MILITARY EXERCISES, COMIC IMITATIONS and DELINEATIONS, FANTASTIC ORATIONS, DIALOGUES, amusing TRICKS, CLASSIC STATUTES, FUNNY PANTOMIMES and BURLESQUE COMEDIES, enchant the children, delight the ladies, and astonish and please the gentlemen.

The scores of Rich and Elegant DRESSES, and the brilliant collection of Diamonds worn before the various Potentates of Europe, all of which are introduced in these Popular Levees cost over TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD!

These little mites of humanity are conveyed to and from their Hotel and Hall by their beautiful Shetland Ponies and Miniature Carriage, attended by Elfin Coachman and Footman in Livery. Ladies and children are considerately advised to attend the Day Exhibition, and thus avoid the crowd and confusion of the evening performances.

Admission 25 cents, Children under ten, 15 cents; Reserved Seats, 50 cents, children under ten, 25 cents. apr15'68:2t.

Under the significant caption "One Enemy Less," the Macon Messenger has an editorial virtually justifying the assassination of George W. Ashburn.

Appointed Notary Public.—Governor Geary a few days ago appointed quite a number of Notaries Public. Among those we see the name of a gentleman of this county—Capt. Chas. B. Hurst of Rochester.

Senator Dixon's time expires March 4, 1869.—The result of Monday's Connecticut election insures a Republican as his successor That kind of "Democratic victories" can be endured very comfortably.

The Mount Pleasant (Iowa) Journal says there is a county in Ohio, called Monroe, with 2,712 dogs, besides 1,700 Democratic majority making in all 4,412—"could'nt mean curs.

Mail Contract Awarded.—We are pleased to learn that Thos. McKinley, Esq., of this place, has been awarded the contract for carrying the mail between Beaver and Rochester. His bid was lower than Forbes. Mr. McKinley's term begins on the 1st of July. He intends running a hack between the places named, for the accommodation of travelers, &c.

The Law Card of Frank Wilson, Esq., will be found in another column of the ARGUS. His office is in the room formerly occupied by the late Hon. Reuben Adams. Mr. Wilson is a young gentleman of fine attainments, an excellent moral character, and will give prompt attention to all business entrusted to him.

Slight Accident.—One day last week, while one of the employees of Davidson's saw mill at Sharon, in this county, was superintending the drawing of a log from the creek up to the mill, he was knocked from a slippery position on the slide, and fell on the stones below. He escaped with an insensible state, but was not seriously, and it is believed he sustained no injury.

Accident. We learn that a son of Mr. Holland of this place, in attempting to jump over the hay scales, near the house and lot, fracturing his right arm at the elbow joint. Through the timely assistance of Drs. Parker and Wallace, the injuries were duly dressed, and the boy is doing well.

Replanting. Our Street Commissioner, we notice, has been to work at replanting shade trees on the pavements commons, in the vacant places caused by the ravages of the storm which were planted last spring. The trees are straightened out, dug up, and live ones substituted in their places. These vacancies are numerous, especially in places where trees were weakest, and where they are surrounded by ice in the winter.

How Editors Fight out West.—A couple of Illinois editors are just now "going through" each other. One of them a few weeks ago took a turn at the other in this wise: "You are the fellow who stole a cow recently, and broke through the ice. You went in up to your ears, but the hole was not big enough to let you through. While you was waiting for some one to help you out your ears froze, and consequently have since amputated, and are now used for canes."

Gen. Tom Thumb and Troupe.—The renowned Gen. Tom Thumb and his associates, consisting of Mrs. Thumb, Commodore Nutt and pretty little Lavinia Warren, will be at Rochester, this county, on Friday last. See advertisement in another column. In addition to the exhibition of their diminutive selves, in parts or all together, and in a variety of costumes, dance and amuse their visitors in a variety of occasions numerous to mention. Those who have never seen these Lilliputians, should not fail to visit Rochester on the 23rd. An event, where the animals may never occur.

"All Fool's Day." A correspondent writes us to remind the fact of April is called all fool's day, and whether came the custom of making a fool of everybody that day? If our correspondent will take the trouble to recently read the eleventh chapter of Genesis, he will more than likely become convinced, and not on the subject.

The resignation of Mr. E. M. Stanton recently handed in by his willingness to become Mr. Johnson's successor in the Senate of the United States. He responded peremptorily: "What I want most here is rest, quiet, a chance to live and die loyally in peace. I appreciate the honor you express, but there is no office I could take. Doubtless, his incessant labors in the cabinet made him long for repose; and yet we think but few cases of public duty would, under the circumstances, induce him to accept the place, in case it should be offered to him.—Pitts. Gaz.

The Wheeling Herald says: "We are reliably informed that some of the coal operators at Steubenville have terminated the Ohio river in their favor, and are now getting out coal on Saturdays and selling it on the Ohio side without toll and without price. If so, they are clearly acting against law, and the matter should receive the attention of the authorities.

Men Without a Country.—A letter received from an American citizen at Beyrout, Syria, dated March 9, says John C. Breckinridge was there on that day, making inquiries with regard to travelling in Syria. He denied all claims to the privileges of citizens of the United States, and appeared highly elated while conversing upon the affairs of Europe. The same letter states that Jacob Thompson and Gen. Beale, were wandering about Europe.

New Post Routes in this County.—In the list of contracting new post routes in the United States, we notice these, which are of interest to our readers:

From Darlington to Elder's Mills.
From Freedom to Knob.
From Bolen, via Wall Rock, and Blair, to Perryville.

The Post Office Department will let these routes to bid as soon as it has time to advertise them, if the people desire it. The wish of the inhabitants in the several localities, in regard to putting on these routes named, should be forwarded at once to the Department.

The Iowa Press says there is a woman in Washington county, in that State, a Mrs. Grant, who has crossed the Plains twice (once since 1860,) several times with her husband (now dead), teaming out and driving stock back. She is, perhaps forty years old, a woman of quiet yet resolute bearing, and modest withal, and she is the most self-hopeful person of her sex we have ever seen. She was last week negotiating with Mr. E. Crane, for the sale of her farm of 345 acres in Franklin township, and proposed to leave for Southeastern Kansas on Monday. She rides her pony like a captain, sitting woman-fashion on a man's saddle. We don't suppose Mrs. Grant was ever heard to say much about "woman's rights," but in point of executive ability and self-reliance she shows herself the equal of any man, and has earned an equal claim to all his privileges.

An Organ "Galloping" into Favor.—A most remarkable piece of musical mechanism, in the shape of an organ, representing the vox humana, (human voice,) is creeping, or rather galloping, into public favor. It is known as the "Burdett Organ," whose tones, do not touch nicety, or abstractly considered as such, but whose utterances are made to excite almost any emotion of the human heart, whether of joy or of sorrow, at the will of the performer, and cause the listener to wonder how it lives without eating and drinking like human beings. Those enterprising gentlemen, H. Kleber & Bro., 122 Wood street, Pittsburgh, have it for sale, and would be pleased to exhibit to those who desire to witness its powers, the wonderful capacity it possesses, to inspire our minds, stir our hearts, and mingle its tender and touching sympathies with those of the human breast. It is said that one gentleman, on visiting this amazing specimen of human invention, for the second time, so far forgot himself that he actually addressed it—"Good morning, Madame!"—Eastern exchange paper. [apr 1:6t.

The New York Times thus sums up the characteristics of D'Arcy McGee, the last victim of assassination: "Mr. McGee, though an able man, is a certain sense gifted with genius, was neither a statesman nor a man for whom a commanding influence can be truthfully claimed. He was an excellent public speaker, a litterateur of varied acquirements, but an ordinary writer, and a very poor manager, as the fate of his newspaper enterprises attests. Perhaps the field in which he rendered the greatest service and won the widest name was that of the lecturer, in which capacity he was favorably known wherever the Irish element enters largely in the composition of our communities. His recent course separated him from his former friends, and at the time of his death, we suspect there were few Irishmen less trusted than he, or less respected by our Celtic citizens.

The only foundation for the recent report that Garibaldi was a secret agent of the American Government, and that his name had appeared in an official list of such agents, published under the authority of Mr. Seward, is said to be the following circumstance: During the civil war Mr. Lincoln offered Garibaldi an important command in the Federal army. The General wrote from Caprera, thanking the President but declining the offer. He added, however, that the cause of America was the cause of humanity, and that though he could not take part in the war, he would send some experienced officers to America who had served under his orders. He did so. The expenses of the voyage amounted to 6,000 francs; this sum was reimbursed, and Mr. Seward charged it to the account of "secret service money."

A Newspaper Change.—A change in the proprietorship of the Lawrence Journal occurred last week. J. W. Blanchard, Esq., withdraws, and D. Sankey, Esq. & Co. continue its publication. Both the retiring editor and Mr. Sankey, have our warmest wishes for success in the future. The Journal will "continue steadily to advocate the principles of the Republican party, and the enactment of general, equal and just laws, that will foster and encourage the acquisition of useful knowledge; the practice of morality and habits of industry among all classes of the people, while it will oppose all monopolies and combinations of individuals for selfish purposes, and insist upon a strict accountability on the part of all public officers, and the practice of the most rigid economy in the administration of all governmental affairs."

Leg Broken.—Last Wednesday a lady by the name of Hurst, residing in Brighton township, this county, while ascending a ladder in the barn, lost her hold, and was precipitated a distance of eight or ten feet to the floor. In the fall her foot caught, and her leg was broken about the ankle. She laid in the position caused by the fall, suffering great pain, and unable to move, for a couple of hours, before her painful position was discovered; but when her condition was ascertained, the fractured limb was dressed, and we believe she is getting along very well at present.

Special Order No. 1.—The Officers and Comrades of Post No. 99, G. A. R. are commanded to meet at their Headquarters in Beaver, on next Wednesday evening, (April 22d) at 7½ o'clock. A full attendance is requested, as there is business of importance to be transacted.

By order of
Attest: JAMES DARRAGH, P. C.
J. MORTON HALL, P. A. pro tem.

Some poetaster has been cruel enough to portray the terrible things the Democracy were to do if Johnson were impeached, in this wise:

"We are coming Brother Johnson,
Yes, we'll come a million strong,
Bringing whiskey well with us,
Our Jug and Demi-John;
Yes, we're coming Brother Andy,
Yes, a million, Oh! just think,
But not to fight much, Andy,
But to take a social drink."

April Sleighing.—On last Friday morning, we had a snow in this locality some two or three inches in depth. The weather, however, was not severely cold. Several sleighs were out in the morning, and the jingling of the bells reminded us of mid-winter again. We do not remember of ever seeing a snow like this on the 10th of April before.

On Sunday morning the snow began to fall again and came down heavy the greater part of the day, and the wind blew very cold. Monday the sun came out quite warm, and in the evening all indications of snow had disappeared.

G. A. R.—The Philadelphia Press publishes a complete list of the Posts and their commanders of the Grand Army of the Republic in Pennsylvania.—From this list it appears that there are now in this State 197 Posts. The organization has extended itself to almost every county in Pennsylvania.

The Democracy of Bridgewater, Beaver, county, gave the Rads a Waterloo defeat on Monday of last week, by electing their whole ticket by a handsome majority. One year ago the Rads carried the town; in the fall, however, the Democracy carried it by eighteen majority. The Rads thereupon secured the passage of a bill through the present Legislature—against numerously signed remonstrances—attaching the village of Sharon (which was almost entirely Rad-ical) to Bridgewater. Thereby they expected to carry the town beyond a peradventure, but failed to elect a single officer. The four Radical candidates for school directors were beaten worst on account of the fact that for the past year negroes have been admitted to the white schools through the action of the retiring Radical board. Evidently the rank and file of the Radical party felt that it was about time to show their manhood, and therefore, whilst rebuking the miscegenation tendencies of their leaders, most of them voted the whole Democratic ticket.—Harrisburg Patriot & Union.

A stranger on reading the above would be led to believe that the cops made heavy gains in Bridgewater at the recent election, and that the "rads" had met with corresponding losses. This is not true. The cops did not poll as many votes in Bridgewater this spring as they did last fall; the Republicans polled more. But the question is, with Sharon annexed, why did not the Republicans elect their whole ticket? Because for a day or two before the election several leading cops from Bridgewater were up here to get somebody's legal opinion to the effect that the voters of Sharon could not lawfully participate in the election on the 30th of March, on the ground of not having resided within the borough of Bridgewater for six months past. Whether they got this legal opinion or not we cannot say; but certain it is, they went back to Bridgewater and alleged they had it. They sent word to Sharon that they had it. Believing then that they could not vote a large number of the Sharon Republicans did not attend the election at all. In consequence of this non-attendance the Democrats, as usual, succeeded with their ticket. Of course the Republicans of Sharon were clearly entitled to vote, and these assertions of the cops to the contrary were made only to deter them from exercising their legal rights on that day. The Sharon Republicans believed they had as clear a right to vote at that election as the Bridgewater cops had, but being new-comers in the borough they chose to let the election go by default, rather than have any trouble about it. This is why the Republican ticket of Bridgewater was not elected on the 30th of March, as the Patriot and Union can ascertain by investigating the facts. If that paper will hold its peace until the fall elections, we venture to say its news from Bridgewater will be very different from what it now prints. Mark that.

CALIFORNIA CORRESPONDENCE.

OROVILLE, BUTTE CO., CAL., March 14, 1868.

EDITOR ARGUS:—I perceive from my diary that to-night, and reflecting how often in years long past, I had been pleased and profited in perusing your valuable paper, I came to the conclusion I would extend my hand and renew my former acquaintance, and jot down a few items that might perhaps be read with interest by your readers, coming as it does from the "Gem of the foot hills" in this Eldorado of the pacific Slope. The point from where I write, is the beautiful town of Oroville in Lat. 39 deg. 31 min. 35 sec. N. Long. 121 deg. 26 min. 41 sec. W. It is the county seat of Butte county, and lying on the south bank of Feather river, in the great valley of the Sacramento, and contains a population of some twelve hundred souls, with beautiful, wide, level streets, well shaded and surrounded by Mining & Agricultural lands, (indeed the ground on which it stands will pay from two to five dollars "to the hand" now, but that is not thought sufficient pay for a miner to pitch his tent.) And the same land will produce almost any kind of cereals. We have here large and commodious county buildings, two churches, two Odd Fellows, and two Masonic Lodges, with large memberships. We have Mills, Foundry and Machine Shops, large Wholesale and retail Dry Goods and Grocery Stores; there is also a Rail Road running from here every day, connecting with the tide water. This place is seventy-five miles from the State Capital (Sacramento City), and two hundred and five miles from the city of San Francisco. We have perhaps, as large and well conducted graded Grammar school as is in any place of its size in the U. S. The surrounding country is well adapted to raising grapes. Large vineyards all through the foots hills, adjacent to town. Many thousands of gallons of wine was made last year, selling from one dollar to one dollar and a half per gallon. Politics—Radical, strong for Congress, and very bitter on "I dim your Moses." The State is Radical, but last fall the Union men put up bad men, and the party split, hence the State was turned over to the "Snakes," but in next November this State will roll up a large majority for General Grant.

The Markets—Wheat, $3 70 ℔ bush; flour, from $7-50 to $8 25 ℔ cwt.; barley, from $2 12½ to $2 25 ℔ cwt.; oats $2 30 ℔ cwt.; potatoes, from 80c to $1 50 ℔ bush.; hay, from $20 to $25 ℔ ton; onions, 6 to 7 cts. ℔ lb.; butter from 40 to 45 cts. ℔ lb.; eggs 50 cts. ℔ doz.—Meats; beef 15 to 20 cts. ℔ lb.; hams 25 cts. ℔ lb. bacon 18 cts. ℔ lb.; lard, 17 cts. ℔ lb.; turkey, 25 cents ℔ lb.; hens from $7 50 to $8 50 ℔ dozen.

The weather here this winter has been very severe it has rained almost continually since Christmas.—A clear day is the exception, in the Mountains the snow and storm has been terrible, snow slides are of common occurrence within the last three weeks. In one place, in Eureka Canon, seven persons were killed. The Central Pacific R. R.—At Cisco on the Summit, last week, the snow on the track was thirty feet deep. I send you for your Cabinet some gold dust, taken from Jordan Creek, Idaho territory; it is valued at $12 per oz. In my next, I will send you some samples from this place.

Beaver county is represented here by the family of Peter Whitebread, formerly of Fallston. I am sorry to have to record the death of the old gentleman, who died suddenly on the 5th of February, also our friend Joseph N. Vera, formerly of Bridgewater. He is under Sheriff of this county, and your correspondent.—The changes that have taken place since I was last in Beaver must be great, many of my old chums have fallen in the great struggle for liberty, and by the unerring hand of death. More anon.

Oroville, California, March 14, 1868.

Attempted Escape.—On Sunday evening, between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock, as Mr. Thompson, Deputy Sheriff, was making his rounds preparatory to closing up the jail for the night, and securing the fastenings, he was assaulted by four of the prisoners, named respectively, Wm. Smith, Benj. Arthurs, Elmer Powelson and Sut Butler, (the latter, colored.) It appears that they had a pre-arranged plan laid to make an attempt to escape, as their operations were apparently conducted with some system. While Smith attacked Mr. Thompson in front, Butler came up behind and clenched him by the throat, the other two, Arthurs and Powelson engaging him as circumstances would permit, but Mr. Thompson, being an active man, succeeded after herculean efforts in throwing off his assailants, and defeating their murderous purposes. The presence of mind exhibited by the Deputy, in throwing the keys, during the struggle, into one of the cells and out of the reach of the culprits, thereby frustrating their scheme for getting away, is certainly commendable.—Washington Reporter.

The Nashville Press says that the secret and murderous co-operhead association known as the "Ku-Klux-klan," was conceived and organized in New York by Tennessee rebels. It was first put into practical working in Pulaski, Tenn., and was in full force there some months since at the time of the riot. After that it spread rapidly in all the States. The main object of the organization seems to be to rid the whole South of all Union men by murder. One of the latest and most distinguished victims was the Hon. G. W. Ashburn of Georgia, who was foully murdered in his own house on the night of the 30th ult. Gen. Meade has issued strict orders in his military district for the suppression of the organization. It is rumored that we are to have a lodge in Lancaster under the supervision of the young Vallandigham Democracy.

A Delectable Town.—A correspondent writing from Hayes City, Kansas, the present terminus of the Kansas branch of the Pacific Railroad, gives the following catalogue of the attractions of that city:

"Hayes City contains about 800 people, nearly one-half of whom subsist by selling whisky to the other half; the Sabbath is known only as a day of recreation, shops of every kind being open, money staked on the tables, and gambling going on as usual. The gospel has never been preached in the place. The streets are patroled night and day by United States soldiers; shooting at each other is the standard amusement of the lively population, four persons having been shot in a single week, recently; might is right, and the revolver is the court of first and last appeal. It has not rained in Hayes City for six months."

At the recent election in Kansas, Hayes City went Democratic by nearly four to one. This statement, however, will startle no one. Such a result was to be expected.

Pennsylvania Reserve Association.—Col. John H. Taggart, corresponding secretary, sends us the following for publication:

The second annual meeting of the Association will be held at Pittsburgh, May 30th, on which occasion a full attendance of all the surviving members of the "Old Corps" who can make it convenient to attend is earnestly desired. All who intend to participate will please notify Major John C. Harvey, recording secretary of the association, at the office of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville railroad company, Pittsburgh, Pa., before May 15th.

The Committee of Arrangements appointed at the last celebration will select the place of meeting in Pittsburgh. A handsome badge, to be worn by the members, will be presented for adoption.

Let every man who can come be there, to spend a few hours in social intercourse with his old comrades in arms. An address by a gallant soldier will be delivered on the late Major General George A. McCall.

Newspapers throughout Pennsylvania, without distinction of party, will confer a favor by copying this notice.—State Guard.

The McConnellsville (O.) Herald announces the death of John Gray, supposed to be the last surviving soldier of the Revolution. It occurred at the residence of his daughter, near Hiramsburg, Noble county, Ohio, on the 20th ult. Mr. Gray had just completed his 104th year, having been born early in 1764. He has not been on the pension list until within a year or two, not possessing the prescribed proofs of his military service. It having come to the knowledge of the Congressman of his district that Mr. Gray was in necessitous circumstances, and that there was no doubt of his having served in the closing years of the Revolution, an annuity of $500 per annum was settled upon him.

Marriages.

FORSEYTHE—HILLMAN—On the 7th inst., by Rev. John Brown, of Knoxville, Mr. David Forseythe, to Miss Mary D. Hillman, both of Allegheny Co., Pa.

PIERSOL—TROTTER—Also, by the same, on the 9th inst., Mr. James Piersol, to Miss Maggie Trotter, all of Beaver Co., Pa.

Deaths.

DAWSON—On the 5th inst., Mr. James Dawson, of Glasgow, in the 45th year of his age.

MOLTER—On the 20th of March, in La Grange county, Indiana, Mrs. Elizabeth Margaret, wife of Peter Molter, aged 51 years.

The deceased was the mother of Mr. J. C. Molter of this county, and was noted during her long life for taking a deep interest in the moral and religious training of her children. Deeply pious herself, death had no terrors for her, and when the summons came she passed to that bourne from whence no traveller ever returns, without a pain and without a struggle. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord.

HEALTH GIVING WINE.

Some time since Mr. A. Speer of Passaic, N. J., presented us with a bottle of his Port Grape Wine. In our turn we presented it to a friend who was in feeble health. After giving the wine a few trials, our friend assures us he derived marked benefit from its use. We find that many invalids in this city are using Speer's Port Grape Wine with the same beneficial results.

ROCHESTER FOUNDRY,

ANDERSON, ARBUCKLE & CO.

MANUFACTURERS OF MACHINE CASTINGS' Railway Track and Car Castings, Agricultura Implements, Engine and all other Castings made at a first class Foundry. Also, Stoves, Grate Fronts, Grate Bars, Liners Sash Weights, Hollow-Ware, Kettles, Iron Fence, and all other Castings called for, on short notice and of the very best metal.

Also, J. J. Anderson's justly celebrated New Cook Stove for Coal and Wood, which took the

First Premium

At the State Fair recently held at Pittsbugh. This Stove combines many new and important principles, which place it far in advance of all others now in use. Some of the merits claimed for it by the Inventor, are Heavy Metal, Well Proportioned, Beauty of Style and Finish, Ease of Draft, Easily Kept Clean, Requires but little Fuel, and the BEST BAKER EXTANT.

All orders thankfully received and promptly filled.

We Call Attention to the Following Statements:

While living in the East I used several of the most Celebrated Cooking Stoves made in that part of the country, and on my arrival here, I was recommended to purchase the Crystal Palace Stove, (also invented by Mr. Anderson) as being the best. I did so, and used it with good satisfaction. When I saw Mr. Anderson's new Stove, I was attracted by its neat appearance, and on examining its Oven and interior arrangements, found it possessed many advantages over all I had seen. I purchased, and have one now in use. We consider it superior to any we have ever used. It is all the inventor claims, and we think, all that could be desired in a Cooking Stove.

CAPT. GILBERT PENDLETON.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 21st.

Having one of Mr. Anderson's new Stoves in use, I can fully endorse Capt. Pendleton's statement.

JOHN H. WHISLER.

Having one of Anderson's new Stoves in use, I can fully endorse the above recommendation.

J. WOODRUFF.

Having one of Mr. Anderson's new Stoves in use, we are fully satisfied with its good qualities in all respects.

JOSEPH IRVIN AND WIFE.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 25th.

Having kept house for a long time, and used a great number of Cook Stoves of different patterns and styles, I consider J. J. Anderson's new Stove, in point of economy in fuel, ready cooking and baking for its size, superior to any we have used, and cheerfully recommend it, believing it will render entire satisfaction.

CHAS. LUKINS.

We have one of Mr. J. J. Anderson's new Stoves, manufactured at the Rochester Foundry, and having given it a fair trial, we find it comes fully up to all that has been claimed for it. It heats very rapidly, takes but little fuel, and is almost excellent baker. Mr. Anderson may congratulate himself on having achieved quite a triumph in the line of Cooking Stoves.

Very respectfully,

Beaver, Nov. 23d, 1867. J. S. BRACKEN.

COOKING STOVES,

GRATE FRONTS and FENDERS, &c., &c.

Ruby Cooking Stove Nos 7, 8 & 9.

THIS STOVE TOOK THE FIRST PREMIUM AT the State Fair as a Coal Cooking Stove, and also at the late County Fair. We use no scrap iron in their manufacture, but make them exclusively of No. 1 Pig Metal, and warrant them in every respect.

The Ruby has the largest oven in the market and consumes but little fuel in baking, owing to to our improved Grate.

GRATE FRONTS AND FENDERS.

We are largely engaged in the manufacture of Grate Fronts and Fenders, which we enamel in an even common, second quality and fine finish. This enamel retains its lustre for a long time, will not burn off, and makes a much superior finish to that of Coal Tar.

SUMMER PIECES.

We are also making Sheet Iron Summer Pieces (for which we have applied for a patent) pressed up in a Hydraulic press. They are much lighter than cast Iron, and much cheaper.

HEATING STOVES.

We claim the heaviest heating Stove in the market for the size, and use the best Stock in their construction.

Our patterns are not yet complete, but it is our intention to keep a general assortment in our line.

We also took the Premium at the County Fair for Castings generally, and we have entered in to the business with the determination to use the best of Pig Metal and make good work.

We respectfully request a share of the public patronage, and would be pleased to see those wanting anything in our line at our woks.

Prices Low to suit the times.
